Special programs to honor Dr. King, Black History Month

The Atlantic City Free Public Library will pay tribute to the impact of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and Black History Month at upcoming programs in January and February.

First, poets of all ages and abilities are invited to the Tribute to Dr. King Poetry Workshop at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 16. Writer and radio host Raymond Tyler will lead the program.

Attendees will embrace their inner poet — and the spirit of Dr. King — by writing about their hopes, dreams, wishes and wants.

On Saturday, Jan. 19, at 2 p.m., everybody is invited to a special program — Celebrating Dr. King's Legacy. The guest speaker will be long-time Atlantic City resident and community activist Kaleem Shabazz.

Shabazz will discuss the relevance of Dr. King's philosophy in the age of President Barack Obama. This program is for all ages as everybody can learn how Dr. King's influence has not only paved the way for President Obama, but led him to refer to Dr. King as one of his greatest influences.

Shabazz is a board member of the American Conference on Diversity and former commissioner of the New Jersey Martin Luther King, Jr., Commemorative Commission. He was South Jersey Director of the National Conference of Christians

The Atlantic City Free Public Library's Chinese New Year celebration will include music and dance, paper folding, and calligraphy and paper cutting on Feb. 10.

Chinese New Year celebration set for Feb. 10

Participants can make snakes, using Chinese paper cutting techniques.

The Chinese New Year 2013 — the Year of the Snake — begins Feb. 10, and the Atlantic City Free Public Library has scheduled an afternoon of programs in celebration.

The Greater Philadelphia Asian Culture Center will join in the festivities, which will include traditional music and dance, calligraphy, paper folding and paper cutting.

The music and dance performance, along with the calligraphy, are scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. No registration is required.

As part of the library's weekly Fun Day Sunday schedule, a paper cutting program will be held 2 p.m. in the Main Library's second-floor meeting room. Space is limited, and registration is required. Sign up by visiting the Main Library's Youth Services Department (second floor) or calling (609) 345-2269, ext. 3050.

Participants in this program will learn about Chinese paper cutting traditions and will create their own dimensional snakes.

Chinese New Year is regarded as the most important and longest holiday (15 days) in China. Chinese New Year starts on the first day of the lunar calendar, so it is also called Lunar New Year.

Tax return assistance available for seniors, low-income residents

Volunteers from the Tax Aide Program of AARP will be at the Atlantic City Free Public Library to assist the community with their tax returns. This program is for seniors and low-income residents of Atlantic County.

Those interested in getting help with their tax returns must make an appointment by calling (609) 677-8266.

AARP will be in the Main Library's second-floor meeting room on Wednesdays from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Feb. 13-April 10.

Author from projects to share impact of writing on his life

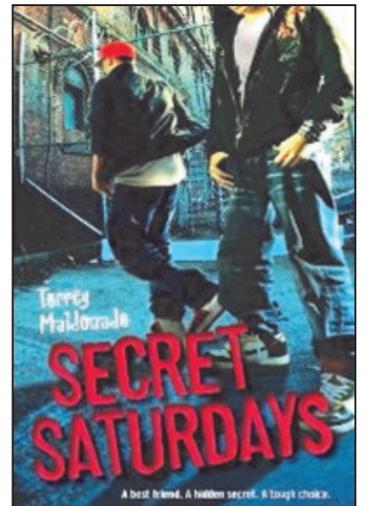

Youth ages 11 to 17 are invited to the Atlantic City Free Public Library's Meet the Author program — featuring urban fiction writer Torrey Maldonado — at 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 23.

He wrote Secret Saturdays, which was selected in 2011 as an American Library Association Quick Pick for Reluctant Young Adult Readers. His book has also been featured on ABC, NBC, and CNN.

Youth who want to discuss the book before Maldonado's arrival can do so at 1 p.m. that day.

Maldonado grew up in the Red Hook projects in Brooklyn, where he now teaches in the public school system. The book is inspired by his experiences with city schools, fatherlessness and poverty.

Maldonado will share the story of how writing

Torrey Maldonado's experience as a youth in the Red Hook projects of Brooklyn served as the inspiration behind his book "Secret Saturdays."

saved his life and helped distract him from the rough realities surrounding him.

For more information, please call the Youth Services Department at (609) 345-2269, ext. 3050.

New language-learning system available

Beginning in January 2013, the Atlantic City Free Public Library will offer the Pronunciator online language-learning system — and it's free for all library customers.

With 60 of the world's most popular languages, and ESL courses in 50 languages, Pronunciator is focused on quickly building conversational skills through a suite of interactive online drills, scored quizzes, and downloadable audio lessons and phrase-books.

Pronunciator offers five possible levels of instruction for each language, covering vocabulary, verbs, simple sentences, and conversation. One level, specifically for tourists and business travelers, teaches 1,500 essential phrases covering everyday situations.

Fun Day Sunday crafts include historical, cultural, seasonal themes

Weekends are a time for families to have fun, and that holds true at the Atlantic City Free Public Library — especially on Sundays.

The library offers weekly Fun Day Sunday programs at 2 p.m.

The programs are free. No experience in art is necessary. Since supplies are limited, those interested in attending must register in advance by stopping by the Main Library's Youth Services Department (second floor) or calling (609) 345-2269, ext. 3050.

The programs start at 2 p.m.; nobody will be admitted after 2:15 p.m.

Soyal Festival of Purification and Renewal: Pahos Prayer Sticks

Sunday, Jan. 6, at 2 p.m.

The Zuni and Hopi Native American tribes' Soyal Ceremony is a ritual designed to call the sun back from its long winter slumber. Prayer sticks are made to bless the people, their homes, animals and plants, to reflect on the past and look ahead to the coming year. Participants will create their own New Years prayer sticks, reflecting their hopes for the coming year. Age eight through adult.

Simply Snowman Mosaic

Sunday, Jan. 13, at 2 p.m.

Make and take home a fun snowman mosaic on canvas. Participants will have a hands-on experience, creating a beautiful mosaic canvas of a winter scene. Age eight through adult.

To the Mountaintop: A Mixed Media Sculpture

Sunday, Jan. 20, at 2 p.m.

On April 3, 1968, Dr. Martin

Luther King delivered his final speech, known as "I've Been to the Mountaintop." Using words and images from the speech, participants will create a collective mountain sculpture commemorating Dr. King's work. Age eight through adult.

Celebrate National Puzzle Day

Sunday, Jan. 27, at 2 p.m.

Design and make your own puzzle that you can take home. Age eight through adult.

Mardi Gras Masks

Sunday, Feb. 3, at 2 p.m.

Mardi Gras and similar carnival events are celebrated all over the world, with masks forming an important part of the traditional celebrations. Using ordinary materials found around the house, participants will create their own Mardi Gras mask designs and build them. Age eight through adult.

Chinese New Year Celebration: Paper Cutting

Sunday, Feb. 10, at 2 p.m.

Create your own Chinese paper snake. Age eight through adult. Please see story on page one about the library's Chinese New Year celebration.

Peace, Love and Hope Collages on Wood

Sunday, Feb. 17, at 2 p.m.

Participants will create a collage of peace, love and hope on wood. Age eight through adult.

African Shields

Sunday, Feb. 24, at 2 p.m.

Celebrate the beauty and tradition of African tribal designs. Participants will learn about and make colorful masks to take home using simple materials. Artist Nancy Leary explains how patterns can be identified and used creatively. A great project for the entire family. Age eight through adult.

What a time we had at Winter Wonderland

The City of Atlantic City and Atlantic City Free Public Library co-sponsored the Winter Wonderland for city children ages 3-12 on Dec. 15 at the Atlantic City Convention Center. The event, funded in part by the CRDA, included rides, arts and crafts, games, face painting and appearances by Santa Claus and other special guests.

Learn about library's audiobook, eBook site; try different eReaders

The Atlantic City Free Public Library is offering Introduction to eBooks & Audiobooks classes. The classes will be held from 3-5 p.m. Jan. 31 and Feb. 26.

Learn how to check out eBooks and audiobooks from the Atlantic City Free Public Library's online eBook and audiobook lending website — overdrive.acfpl.org.

Those with a tablet, smartphone, or laptop can bring it, although none is needed to attend. Also, if you are thinking about purchasing an eReader, the library will have several models for participants to try.

To fully participate in the class please bring your Atlantic City Free Public Library card.

Call (609) 345-2269, ext. 3069, for more information.

to a portable device, or burn to CD. Appropriate for children as well as adults, Pronunciator is designed to meet the language-learning needs of the entire community.

Stop by the Atlantic City Free Public Library's Reference Department for an introduction to this resource, or access it by visiting the library's website — www.acfpl.org — and clicking on the Do Research tab.

Do you have Sandy photos, videos or stories to share?

Superstorm Sandy hit New Jersey on Oct. 29, 2012, leaving communities throughout the state devastated. Many people have stories, photos and videos of their experience during Hurricane Sandy, and here at the Atlantic City Free Public Library we are interested in documenting your experience in the storm. Through stories, photographs and videos we will be able to capture this moment in history and share the story of Atlantic City during Hurricane Sandy. We will be able to help future generations understand what the community of Atlantic City went through during this historic event. The images will be used for research and exhibit in the Atlantic City Heritage Collections at the Library.

If you are interested in sharing, submit photos, videos, or personalized account about your Atlantic City experience during Superstorm Sandy to the Atlantic City

Heritage Collections. Please visit the Heston Room or call (609) 345-2269, ext. 3062, for more information.

Also, for those affected by Superstorm Sandy, the Atlantic City Library has compiled a Natural Disasters research guide. It's available on the library's website — www.acfpl.org — under the Do Research tab. The guide includes helpful phone numbers and links for Sandy victims, how to donate to relief organizations and more.

Oxford African American Studies Center is available through library website

The Oxford African American Studies Center is one of the many premium eResources offered by the Atlantic City Free Public Library.

The Oxford African American Studies Center combines the authority of carefully edited reference works with sophisticated technology to create the most comprehensive collection of scholarship available online to focus on the lives and events which have shaped African American and African history and culture.

The Oxford African American Studies Center provides students, scholars and librarians with more than 10,000 articles by top scholars in the field.

In addition to the full-text of these works, the Center draws on other key resources from Oxford's reference program, including the Concise Oxford Companion to African American Literature, the Oxford Companion to Black British History, and selected articles from other major reference titles. More than 2,500 images, more than 450 primary sources with specially written commentaries, and nearly 200 maps have been collected to enhance this reference content. More than 150 charts and tables offer information on everything from demographics to government and politics to business and labor to education and the arts.

A key feature of the Oxford African American Studies Center site is the ongoing editorial program. The site continues to grow with new and updated content added on a regular basis, including the latest biographies from the African American National Biography project and additional primary documents with commentary.

The Oxford African American Studies Center is available through the library website — www.acfpl.org. Atlantic City Library members with access to the Internet can use Oxford any time of day. Also, it is available to those visiting the library.
