Exciting programs coming for Black History Month

Grand opening of month-long Club Harlem exhibit Feb. 1

Ralph Hunter, Sr., can still vividly recall the glorious sights and sounds that he experienced as a teenager in the 1950s while strolling down Atlantic City's Kentucky Avenue — a magical street famed throughout the East for its clubs and the incredible performers who regularly played there.

Many of Hunter's fond memories from that special era — when the city was regarded as an entertainment Mecca — came from Club Harlem, the most important club between New York City and Washington, D.C., he said.

He remembers the distinctive Club Harlem sign, a legendary landmark for locals and tourists, greeting people as they turned down Kentucky.

And, he can picture people dressed in their finest clothes standing at one end of the club waiting to enter, while the music of such greats as Cab Calloway, Ella Fitzgerald and Duke Ellington could be heard at the opposite end of the building.

The African American Heritage Museum of Southern New Jersey, which Hunter founded, and the Atlantic City Free Public Library will pay homage to the legendary club with a special exhibit "A Pictorial of Club Harlem and the Way We Were." The exhibit will be on display in the Main Library meeting room all of February in celebration of Black History Month.

The exhibit grand opening will be held Monday, Feb. 1, at 6 p.m. Hunter will discuss the history of Club Harlem, his memories, the local African American community during that time period and more. Local icon and dance instructor Pattie Harris, who once worked for the club as part of a dance group, is also scheduled to be among the special guest speakers.

There is no charge to view the exhibit or attend the opening.

The exhibit will feature

Hip hop culture, comic drawing to be covered in free workshops

The Atlantic City Free Public Library's celebration of Black History Month includes youth workshops.

Atlantic City's Weekly's Raymond Tyler will direct a hip hop writing workshop "Words, Beats and Life" on Wednesday, Feb. 10 and 17, at 6:30 p.m. This program is for teenagers.

Tyler will bring in old school and current hip hop music, magazines and graffiti examples. He will also discuss hip hop's impact.

Also, the library will have comic book drawing lessons every Wednesday in February at 3:30 p.m.

Joe Del Beato will lead these sessions for youth ages 8 to 16. The group will draw African American characters that have been featured in comics, cartoons and graphic novels.

Please call (609) 345-2269, ext. 3050, for more information about these programs.

The Greater Philadelphia Minghui School Dance Team will perform traditional Chinese dances.

Schedule of events

Chinese New Year celebration scheduled for Feb. 13

The Atlantic City Free Public Library will hold a Chinese New Year celebration, featuring entertainment, activities and an informative presentation, on Saturday, Feb. 13, from 1 to 4 p.m.

No registration is required, and all programs are free.

1 to 2:15 p.m. — Traditional Music and Dance Program; Martial Arts Demonstration: The Greater Philadelphia Minghui School Dance Team will perform. Founded in July 2007, the Dance Team has performed extensively, including at the Asian Cultural Festival in September 2007, VIP Reception at the Chinese New Year Spectacular in Philadelphia in January 2008, Second annual Women Cultivating Women Awards Ceremony in March 2008 and the Evening of Art event at University of Delaware in March 2008.

Also, the Zhao Changjun Kung Fu Institute of Moorestown will perform a martial arts demonstration. Changjun was a highly decorated Kung Fu master and teacher in his native China.

The Peking Opera will perform songs, dances and martial arts-like movements. The group will wear authentic Chinese costumes, along with distinctive make-up as it relates to the performance.

LEARN MORE ABOUT CHINESE CULTURE AND HISTORY BY VISITING THE GALE REFERENCE LIBRARY, AVAILABLE AT WWW.ACFPL.ORG IN THE ONLINE RESEARCH LIBRARY SECTION.

1 to 4 p.m. — Hands-on activities: The library will also offer a variety of activities. Attendees can try Chinese calligraphy, paper cutting and brush painting. All supplies will be provided.

2:30 to 3:30 p.m. — Chinese Medicine Lecture with Dr. Jingduan Yang: Dr. Yang's topic is "Acupuncture and Traditional Chinese Medicine." Dr. Yang will introduce the basic principals of traditional Chinese medicine and how people can apply it to their daily lives. Dr. Yang is a board certified psychiatrist and an international expert on classic forms of Chinese Medicine. He incorporates acupuncture and traditional Chinese herbal medicine with modern medicine in the care of patients with a variety of emotional and physical illnesses. Dr. Yang is founder and medical director of Tao Institute of Mind & Body Medicine, and he practices at Thomas Jefferson University Hospital.

Weekly OASIS series provides programs with seniors in mind

The Atlantic City Free Public Library provides a vast array of programs for a wide range of people.

One of the library's longest running programs is OASIS — Older Adults Special Interest Series.

The weekly series focuses on topics that not only interest older adults, but those that can benefit them as well. The library brings in people who are experienced in particular fields to serve as special guests each week.

The programs, which are free, are held at 10:30 a.m. on Mondays and last 60 to 90 minutes. Programs where supplies are needed are free and supplied by the library, unless it calls for participants to use a personal item from home (i.e. a photograph).

The OASIS schedule appears in Discovery, the library's bimonthly newsletter, on the library website at www.acfpl.org, and on flyers available at the library. Another option is simply to call OASIS coordinator Sandy Davis-Neff at (609) 345-2269, ext. 3119, or Public Information Officer Don Latham at (609) 345-2269, ext. 3112.

Listed is the schedule for January and February:

Fleece Scarf

Monday, Jan. 4, at 10:30 a.m.

Guest Speaker: Jackie Caplan, Local Arts and Crafts Instructor
The group will make a soft, warm scarf made from fleece; fleece in different colors will be provided and participants will just knot the fringe and end with a beautiful and warm scarf to be used all winter. Supplies are free, and the fleece scarf is yours to take home with you.

Getting Organized for Tax Time

Monday, Jan. 11, at 10:30 a.m.

Guest Speaker: H&R Block Consultant

Come and join us as we learn how to get organized before filing income taxes. Bring in returns from previous years. In some cases, reviewing past filings uncovers miscues that require amending or ways to trim the tab that may have been overlooked. Be sure to set aside time to rummage through your personal records, including last year's returns, checkbooks, credit-card statements, receipts, appointment calendars and bills, looking for forgotten deductions.

Library closed – Martin Luther King Jr. Day

Monday, Jan. 18

Can I Afford To Retire?

Monday, Jan. 25, at 10:30 a.m.

Guest Speaker: John Kelley, Wachovia Bank, Atlantic City
Calling all baby boomers: learn how to protect your retirement. The transition to retirement can be full of challenging financial decisions. For years, those nearing retirement have been urged by financial experts to “save, save, save” and pay down debt. But after the nest egg is built come some complicated questions:

- Is that nest egg big enough to retire now? How much can I spend each month? Should I convert some savings into an annuity?

Heart Frames

Monday, Feb. 1, at 10:30 a.m.

Guest Speaker: Jackie Caplan, Local Arts and Crafts Instructor
The group will make heart frames for Valentine's Day. Participants will paint and/or decorate the frames with their keepsake photo inside. All supplies are free, and the Valentine Day heart frame is yours to take home with you.

Tai Chi Easy

Monday, Feb. 8, at 10:30 a.m.

Guest Speaker: Curtis Read, Institute of Integral Qigong and Tai Chi Certified Facilitator
Come and learn about Tai Chi, a fitness and stress management program based on traditional Chinese medicine. The Tai Chi movements are easy and simple to do and provide health benefits for everyone regardless of age.

Library closed – Presidents Day

Monday, Feb. 15

Soup's On

Monday, Feb. 22, at 10:30 a.m.

Guest Speaker: Loretta Geary, Caterer.

Soups are an inexpensive, healthy option for everybody, and they're certainly a good budget stretcher. Participants will learn some new recipes and get to taste them.

Starting and Growing Business workshop series continues Jan. 20

The Atlantic City Free Public Library and Richard Stockton College Small Business Development Center (SBDC) will continue the “Starting and Growing Your Business” workshop series in January.

The free, two-hour sessions will be held at 6 p.m. in the meeting room of the Main Library, located at One North Tennessee Avenue. Those interested in these sessions are encouraged to register at (609) 347-2174.

Wednesday, Jan. 20 — Accessing Capital for Small Businesses: Access to capital is one of the most challenging parts of owning, operating, or starting a small business. The “micro loan” is a popular funding option for individuals and businesses to assist the growth and development of their business. This session will give participants an understanding of the micro loan, eligibility, and the application process. The SBDC will be on hand to discuss the importance of a creating a solid business plan both as part of your growth strategy and when seeking external funding and start-ups frequently ask Atlantic City Free Public Library staff members about the best places to find things such as small business research, demographics, industry data and competitor information. One of those places is the library, which offers a wealth of free resources that are very easy to use. Participants will learn about the information and many services available to them at the library and on the library's business portal (see image to the right).

Wednesday, March 24 – Marketing Your Business: The Basics: This seminar covers the basic principles and elements of marketing to start and grown your business. Learn some key strategies and the best ways to apply them.

Joseph Molineaux, director of Stockton's SBDC, Harriet Diamond, local business consultant and author, and Atlantic City Library staff members will facilitate the seminars.

Molineaux has owned his own small business and worked for numerous organizations in southern New Jersey. He is responsible for overseeing the daily operation of the SBDC, including consultations, orga-

Mango is the Online Language Learning System we have at the library. (I love their top—makes you feel like you are actually on the beach driving a mango—something!) It is available to our library members 24/7. They recently added more languages. It is simple to use and it has the great feature where if you hover over the word, it gives you the phonetic pronunciation, which really helps when you are learning a new language. Even if everyone wants to sound like they have been speaking a language forever! Mango is also useful for our library members who want to learn English. Even though we have ESL classes, this is

CHECK OUT THE NEW LIBRARY BLOG!

The Atlantic City Free Public Library's Reference Department has started a blog.

The blog, located at www.acfpl.org, is called Library in Real Life: Life is full of questions, your library is full of answers.

The blog will be full of tidbits of information and links about timely topics.

Topics that have been covered since the blog's inception include: how to protect yourself from fraud and scams; ways to save energy and save money in the process; upgrades to the library's language learning software; Mango and details about local HINI clinics.

Also, the library encourages readers to leave comments about the various blog entries.
