Nat'l Library Week includes 'Atlantic City Reads' launch

Library to work with city preschools, schools as part of citywide initiative to promote joys of reading

► Also, the library will also offer a 'Food for Fines' amnesty, with donated food going to a local food bank.

The Atlantic City Free Public Library will celebrate National Library Week, which is April 11-17, in a major way — and it is inviting the entire community to be involved.

This year's theme is "communities thrive @ your library," which is fitting given the new initiative the Atlantic City Library is about to begin.

The library will introduce 'Atlantic City Reads,' a community-wide, year-long celebration in April.

Developing a community of readers is important to building a vibrant and informed community, and Atlantic City Reads provides an important forum in which individuals and organizations in the city can come together to share the value and enjoyment of reading.

Children who read fare better in school and in life; teens can explore their potential and life-changing opportunities, and adults can continue their lifelong education and enjoy some mentally stimulating recreation.

The library, with the support of community and

Remembering a local legend

Urban fiction author Allen, radio DJ Miss Jones to appear at library for author book talks

► Children's author Kimanada is also slated to discuss her book.

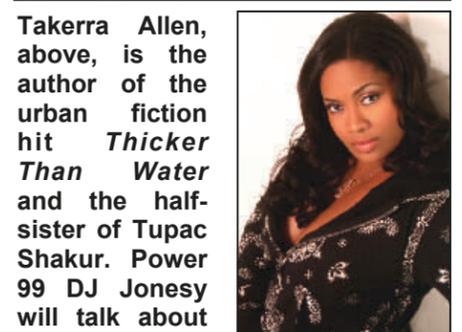

Urban fiction author Takerra Allen and Power 99's Diva DJ Miss Jones have large fan bases — and their loyal followers will have a chance to see them up close and personal at the Atlantic City Free Public Library in coming weeks.

Those two — along with children's author Kimanada — will be featured guests at book talks in March and April. All three book talks are free.

Allen, a resident of Somerset, N.J., and the half-sister of the late Tupac Shakur, will discuss Thicker Than Water on Saturday, March 20, at 2 p.m.

Described as the "Sex and The City of the Hood," Thicker than Water centers around four tight-knit friends from Newark with a special bond until temptation, pride, jealousy and vanity threaten to destroy their loyalty to one another.

Allen also wrote Heaven's Hell, which the author calls "an urban

Library Express opening coming quickly

The Atlantic City Free Public Library will again offer a second location to customers when the Library Express opens its doors this spring.

The anticipated grand opening for the Library Express, located at the intersection of Atlantic and Morris avenues, is April 2010.

The Library Express was developed after the Richmond Avenue School, which housed the Richmond

Branch Library, closed in summer 2009.

The library will have a bigger Richmond Branch in the new Richmond Avenue School, which is projected to open in the fall of 2011.

Meanwhile, the library will offer increased hours at its new location. The Library Express will be

Get yours today: Computer Center users required to possess member or guest card

As of Monday, March 22, every adult who wants to use one of the Atlantic City Free Public Library's public computers will need to have a library membership card or the just-introduced computer guest card.

The membership card allows the card holder to borrow books, DVDs,

CDs, and more, plus they are granted computer and database privileges.

The computer guest card allows the card holder access to the public computers and databases. The card is free and valid for three months.

Harpist Stephanie Sussmeier and soprano-guitarist Leslie Clarke comprise the local Irish group Ceoll Binn, which will perform a free concert in the Atlantic City Free Public Library's meeting room at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, March 17.

Duo Ceoll Binn to perform St. Patrick's Day concert

The Atlantic City Free Public Library invites all lads and lasses to a free concert featuring Irish group Ceoll Binn at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, March 17. The concert will be held in the Main Library meeting room, and it is open to people of all ages. No registration is required.

Soprano-guitarist Leslie Clarke and harpist Stephanie Sussmeier formed Ceoll Binn, which is Gaelic for "sweet music," in 2007.

Clarke has performed as a soloist with the Stockton Oratorio Society, Festival Chorus, St. Peter's United Methodist Church, First Church of Christ Scientist in Ocean City, and with the Tuscany Singers at the Renault Winery and Joseph's Restaurants.

Sussmeier has been playing the harp for 10 years. She performs for weddings and background music, and teaches harp at her home and at the Ocean City Arts Center.

dio's Most Controversial Diva, at 1 p.m. on Saturday, April 3.

After achieving success in the music industry — which included a stint on hip hop legend Doug E. Fresh's Get Fresh Tour and the release of underground hits such as "Don't Front" and "Where I Want To Be Boy" — Miss Jones began her radio career in New York. She eventually got her own show, the highly rated and often controversial "Miss Jones in the Morning" on Hot 97, which she hosted until 2008.

Listeners can now hear her weekdays from 6 to 10 a.m. on Philly's Power 99.

An Atlantic City School District and Atlantic Community College product, Kimananda will speak about her Who Made children's book series on Sunday, April 25, at 2 p.m.

Her first book was Who Made the Queen Sneeze? The second release in the series was Who Made the Royal Baby Yell?

Please call (609) 345-2269, ext. 3112, for more information.

City NAACP branch honors library director

Atlantic City Free Public Library Director Maureen Sherr Frank received the 2010 Community Services Award from the Atlantic City Branch of the NAACP on Jan. 18.

Following the branch's 37th annual Martin Luther King March, a service and awards ceremony were held in tribute of Dr. King at the St. James AME Church.

The NAACP honored Frank "in recognition and grateful appreciation for her extraordinary leadership and dedication." Library Board of Trustees member Curene Clark Ervin presented Frank with a plaque at the ceremony.

"This award is one of the highlights of my professional career," Frank said. "I'm incredibly honored."

Other award winners were: Steven L. Young, Pierre Hollingsworth Civil Rights Award; Ulrick McFadden, Education and Leadership Award; Jessica Brown Korsah, Education Award.

Put pen to paper, create some rhymes, for April 24 is Poetry Reading time

The spring means many things to many people — and for some Atlantic City Free Public Library customers, one of those things is the annual Poetry Reading.

The 17th Poetry Reading is slated for 2 p.m. Saturday, April 24, in Main Library meeting room.

The deadline to submit poems is 5 p.m. Monday, April 5. Poems can be dropped off in the Main Library's second-floor administrative office until 5 p.m.

Monday through Friday. Or, mail entries to: Atlantic City Free Public Library, ATT: Poetry Reading, One North Tennessee Ave., Atlantic City, NJ 08401.

Poets need to follow these guidelines:

- Poems must be suitable for people of all ages.
- All submissions must be typed and single spaced on 8.5" by 11" paper.
- Poems must be camera ready so they can be included in a poetry chapbook.

• Please include your name on the poem but provide personal information such as your address, phone number and e-mail address on a different piece of paper.

• Submit up to three poems, in the order in which they will be read.

The library reserves the right to limit the number of poems that are recited or included in the chapbook.

Please call Mimi Lee at (609) 345-2269, ext. 3115, for more information.

Library Week

city organizations, will continue to provide vital programs, which include:

Atlantic City Library To Go: Bringing Your Library To You — The library provides gently worn library books and magazines to select senior and low-income housing complexes.

ESL classes — English as a Second Language classes are offered throughout the year.

Baby Bounce and Preschool Story Times — The library recognizes the importance of reading to young children to promote early literacy and offers a Baby Bounce (infants 20 months and younger) and preschool story times (ages 3 to 5).

Summer Reading Program — Each summer youths of all ages are invited to participate in our Summer Reading Program. The program emphasizes reading but also includes a variety of entertaining and educational programs.

Author book talks — The library will continue to bring in a variety of authors to discuss their books.

The library will expand its efforts by creating a variety of new programs that will put books in the hands of as many of the community's children as possible. The library will also work with city schools to give students library cards.

As part of National Library Week, the Atlantic City Free Public Library will once again hold a "Food for Fines" food drive — allowing people to make a food donation in lieu of paying a fine on overdue materials — all week at its Main Library and Library Express locations.

Please call (609) 345-2269, ext. 3112, for more information.

open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The book collection will be set up similar to a bookstore. Books will be categorized by subject (i.e. cooking, sports), and signs will mark those sections. There will also be DVDs, CDs, magazines and newspapers, plus separate computer areas for youths and adults.

There are limited parking spaces designated for library users, and surrounding streets include metered and non-metered parking.

Library associate Rick Gerhardt, a staff member since August 2007, will serve as coordinator of the Library Express.

Census workers will be at the library to help people with their Census forms

The Atlantic City Free Public Library will serve as a Questionnaire Assistance Center for the 2010 U.S. Census from March 19 to April 19.

Census workers will be available at the Main Library, located at One North Tennessee Avenue, at scheduled times to provide assistance to people needing help completing their forms.

Also, the Atlantic City Free Public Library will serve as a Be Counted Site and have questionnaires available for people who have not received a form or have not otherwise been counted.

According to the official U.S. Census Web site, 2010.census.gov:

Census information affects the numbers of seats your state occupies in the U.S. House of Representatives. People from many walks of life use census data to advocate for causes, rescue disaster victims, prevent diseases, research markets, locate pools of skilled workers and more.

When you do the math, it's easy to see what an accurate count of residents can do for your community. Better infrastructure. More services. A brighter tomorrow for everyone. In fact, the information the census collects helps to determine how more than $400 billion dollars of federal funding each year is spent on infrastructure and services such as:

- Hospitals
- Job training centers
- Schools
- Senior centers
- Bridges, tunnels and other-public works projects
- Emergency services

trees to our lives.

A huge number of products that we use every day come from trees ... paper, boxes, books, chairs — even maple syrup and aspirin — come from trees. And, a vast number of these products, such as newspaper, cardboard, lumber cuts, sawdust and paper towel rolls, wind up getting thrown in the trash.

Also, participants can bring in their own found and recycled items, if they'd like, including: pine cones, pine needles, acorns, twigs, leaves, driftwood, mulch, paper and bathroom tissue rolls or anything else that is related to trees.

The Atlantic City Free Public Library and International House of Blues Foundation will celebrate Arbor Day 2010 by offering a special program, Tribute to Trees: Recycling Tree-based Products into Artwork, on Wednesday, April 28, at 3:30 p.m., in the Main Library's second-floor meeting room.

This hands-on visual art program is free and all supplies will be provided.

Participants in this workshop will utilize a combination of found and recycled tree-based materials, as well as art supplies, to create original and environmentally friendly artworks that pay tribute to the importance of
